Through '61 Bluff

Each year the yearbook staff chooses a theme to tie the book together and give it unity. This theme must have a common bond with the school and must be flexible enough to be used throughout the book. The student body should be familiar with the theme also.

In picking a theme to fulfill all of the above requirements, the staff picked the cartoon characters in the comic strip "Peanuts." These characters typify the average student at Scottsbluff and, in this book, go through a year of school at SHS.

Progress is the result of change and therefore, the yearbook must change in order to progress. This year, the order of the BLUFF was altered so that the colorful candid shots and organizations reports appear first and the class pictures are reserved for the last. In order to better identify the contents of the various sections, the titles under which they appear are different also.

It is the sincere wish of the '61 BLUFF staff that as you leaf through this book in future years you will enjoy its contents as much as we have enjoyed putting it together.

"WE'RE MARCHING DOWN TO WASHINGTON, D.C." was no longer a dream to peppy band members as they marched briskly down the streets of Washington in the inaugural parade. This picture was snapped as the band marched past the capitol which is visible in the background.

RELAXING DURING AN AFTER-SCHOOL practice session for the Talent Show are Randy Meisner, John Ankeny and John Roberts. The money raised from this show went to the Student Council foreign exchange fund for the following year.

"A" Band, Dramatics;

"We're marching down to Washington" became the theme of the "A" Band when they were chosen to represent Nebraska in the inaugural parade. Band members spent long hours in improving their marching skill, as well as helping to raise the required amount of money. The effort that the bandsmen put forward was doubly returned when they proudly marched past the new president, John F. Kennedy.

Dramatics students also brought recognition to SHS. The A Cappella Choir and the Dramatics Department worked hand-in-hand to produce "Kismet" successfully. Thespians also produced two all-school plays, "Ask Any Girl" and "The Diary of Anne Frank." Several of the Thespians members participated in group and individual events at the district fine arts festival at Alliance. The better performers were then taken to Lincoln for the state fine arts festival.

Winning the KMTV and University of Nebraska class A yearbook trophy highlighted the awards banquet at the high school press convention for Scottsbluff journalism students. They also accepted an honorable mention for The ECHOES and three excellent awards for individual contests. This group of journalists also amassed a larger number of points than Scottsbluff students have in the past.

RECEIVING THE KMTV YEARBOOK TROPHY for Scottsbluff High School are Art Junge, photography editor, and Sharon Huston, editor-in-chief. Dr. William Hall, director of the School of Journalism at the University of Nebraska, presented the trophy at press convention.

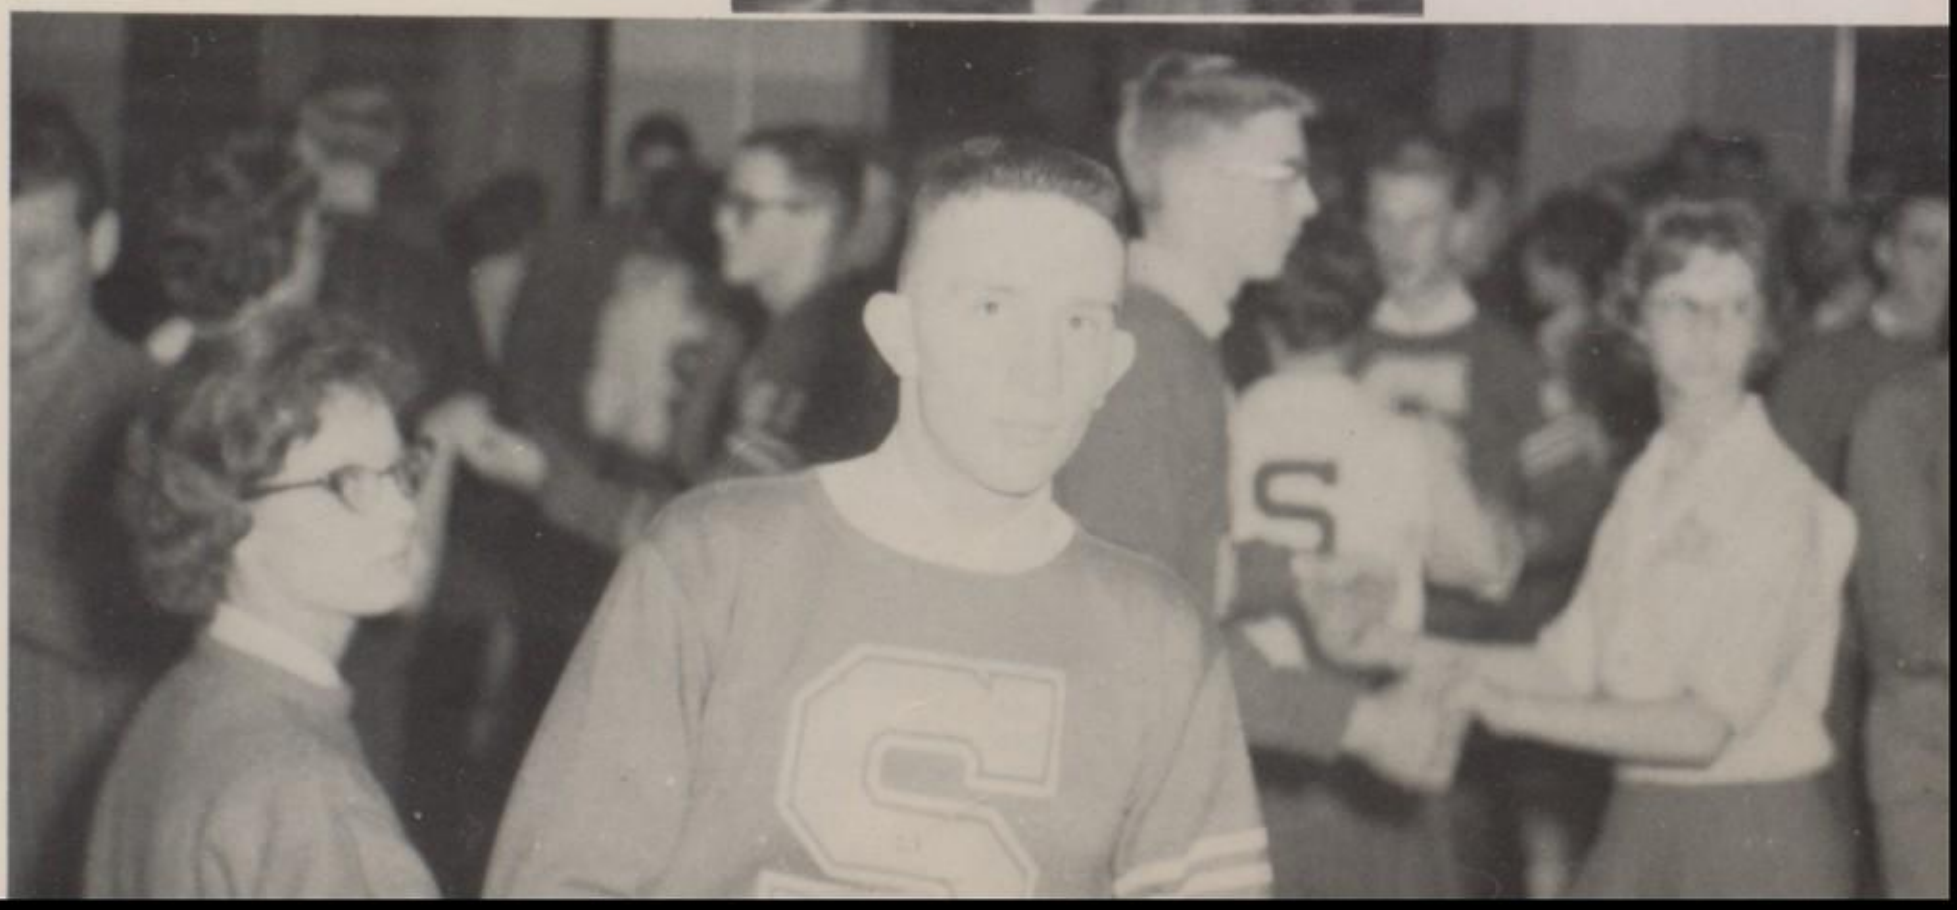
"GESTICULATE WITH YOUR HANDS!!" sings Dennis Krausnick to Jean Donovan. Hours of practice and hard work went into the presentation of "Kismet."

Hall Decorations, Mobs; Essential Part

SENIOR SKITTENS MEMBERS decorate the lower floor hall before the tourney games.

BASKETBALL PLAYERS SEEM TO DEFY the laws of gravity. Marv Neu jumps high as he shoots the ball. Jim Gregg of Gering seems to fly after the rebound.

SHS STUDENTS ENJOY THEMSELVES at a victory dance held after the game. Whether winning or losing, the school spirit never lagged.



Of School Activities

Decorating in the halls became a major project of all Skitten members this year. Each grade was assigned a floor and filled it with unique decorations before each athletic event. Special effort was put forth for Banner Day when the boulevards near the school were also decorated.

Team spirit carried the ideas on the posters into the games. Although not always a winning team, the Big Red was a fighting team.

Dancing is an essential part of student life and the after-game dances fill this need. They also offer the student body a chance to blow off steam or celebrate. Various organizations sponsored these dances as money-raising projects.

Walking through the halls of SHS on a typical school day, open lockers, packed full of books and coats, meet the eye. The signal for classes to change also signals a rush hour in the halls. With only five minutes between classes, each student must hurry on his way or be late. At noon, a rush to the parking lot adds to the hall rush.

IT APPEARS THAT THE ONLY time this locker gets cleaned out is during locker inspection. Sometimes this is the cause of lost books and other articles.

LOOK FAMILIAR? This mob scene greets the students every day as they rush to the cafeteria and parking lot at noon and to classes in the day.

STUDENTS AND FACULTY CARS FLOOD the parking lot each school day. Congestion arises at noon and after school when the students leave. Correct parking is stressed by Stuco.

Faculty members set an example for the students and give them guidance, as well as teaching them the fundamentals in class. Unusual and interesting class activities add to the regular class assignments and textbooks. Discussions, homework and tests help the teachers to decide the grades the students will receive. Class attitude, conduct and participation are also considered by the teachers.

Keeping the school running smoothly and effectively is the job of the administration. The school board controls major changes in the school system. Keeping the flow of attendance slips and registration cards moving is the job of the school secretaries.

Nutritive meals are furnished by the cafeteria staff. The custodial staff takes care of the maintenance work and devises improvements to better the environment for both faculty and students.

Schwisow, Board Plan Future of School

DR. LAUREN SCHWISOW concludes another busy year, his third as superintendent, with his major concern the planning of the new senior high school. With members of the school board Dr. Schwisow has spent numerous hours pouring over blueprints and equipment bids for the new building scheduled for completion in the spring of 1961.

He is quite concerned with the recruitment of quality teachers for the system and the improvement of teacher relations. The broad area of administrative duties also takes much of the superintendent's daily work hours.

Dr. Schwisow has also been active in the improvement and broadening of Scottsbluff College in his position as college president. During the spring, members of the school board, acting for the college, and the president heard a citizens' report on college progress which offered encouragement and recommendations for the coming years.

As a member of the school system, Dr. Schwisow had his bachelor of science, master of arts and doctor of education degrees conferred by the University of Nebraska. In his spare time, he enjoys hunting and fishing.

Basic Fundamentals

English is taught to students from the time they enter seventh grade through their senior year. In the seventh, eighth and ninth grades, they learn mainly English grammar and prepare themselves for high school English. In English 10, they have literature and more advanced grammar. In their junior year, they study American literature and speech. Speech helps them to speak correctly in front of a group. They also give skits, one-act plays and pantomimes to help them relax in front of a group. English literature is studied by all seniors. Memory work, reading plays and listening to recordings help them to understand the various plays better. They also study grammar and learn many new vocabulary words.

Two year courses in French, Spanish, German and Latin are offered to any student in grades nine through twelve. Foreign language students use magazines in various languages, sing Christmas carols and read aloud to help them make use of their newly acquired languages. A Latin Club, Spanish dinner and French conversations also add interest to the study. Foreign languages also help the students meet the college entrance requirements and help prepare them for their future occupations.

Boys' Glee is the smallest group in the vocal department. It consists of thirteen members. This year they spent most of their time preparing themselves for future years as choir members.

Something new was added this year. Boys' Glee, Tower Singers and Girls' Glee had a picnic on the stage. This was included in their spring concert.

While working toward prefection, the boys were included in presenting a Thanksgiving and Christmas concert. These programs also included the other choirs in the vocal department.

MRS. LUCILLE FUEHRER, music instructor, glances through her file of recordings while selecting music to play for her students to develop their appreciation of fine musical scores.

Junior High Varied Background in Music

KATHY BAILEY ACCOMPANIES Larry Karmer while doing solo work. This represents only one example of what is done in the seventh and eighth grade music classes.

Seventh and eighth graders, working toward becoming future choir members, had their work cut out for them. During the class hour, students learned about music and the fundamentals of becoming good vocalists for the future years.

They spent a great deal of time learning how to read notes, blend tones and carry a pitch. Also during the class, they listened to records, learned about the composers and the backgrounds of the records. This gave them a wider knowledge in music background. Music is required in the seventh and eighth grades. After this time, the students have the opportunity to try out for various high school choir groups.

THESE STUDENTS ARE members of Mrs. Fuehrer's sixth period music class. Music is an elective course taken for one semester. Singing some of their favorite songs, seventh and eighth graders prepare themselves for future work as vocalists.

MR. SWANSON, LOOKING a little displeased, still hopes for the orchestra while they practice for "Kismet."

Following the close of the marching band season, many instrumental music students began to earnestly work on perfecting the SHS orchestra.

From the beginning of first semester, long hours were spent in daily practice sessions. All efforts were pointed toward the vocal-instrumental departments' production of "Kismet."

Under the direction of Mr. Ronald Becker and Mr. Paul Swanson, these students gained the experience of accompanying vocalists, while the choral group gained in working with orchestration.

Members of the orchestra played for various church and civic organizations during the year. Other participation included the state music clinic, held during the spring. It was a busy and musical year for the members of the SHS orchestra.

Marching Precision Exhibited

SHS Band had a busy beginning preparing for half-time performances during the football season. The Band was to report each morning at seven or seven thirty to practice marching and learn different routines. Mr. Ron Becker, a new member of the faculty and new among some students, led the band in many performances during the football season and in many parades, such as the inaugural parade. With the help of Drum Major Dick Nazarenus and the six twirlers, the Band had a prosperous year.

In the spring, preparation for the annual formal concert was under way. This, then, will conclude the year's work for the SHS Band.

During Inaugural Parade

The highlight for SHS Band this year was the trip to Washington, D.C. There they represented the state of Nebraska in the inaugural parade. This was the first time the SHS Band had been asked to march in the inaugural parade.

During the Christmas vacation, each student gave up three hours of his or her time every morning. During these hours they marched five miles, plus doing exercises to condition themselves.

Beside making the trip to Washington, D.C., they also saw many historical monuments. They traveled through eight different states.

Bringing back thousands of pictures and a thousand different stories to tell, each student was bubbling over with excitement. Later in the year, a party was given to show all the pictures and to hear talks about the trip.

ALWAYS READY to provide music during the half and quarters, SHS Pep Band is giving a sample of what they know.

Mrs. Richard Diers, director of the SHS Freshman Band, had a busy schedule planned for them this year. During the freshman football games, the band played at half-time and quarters. For marching in the Band Day, Banner Day and other parades, the band devoted time and effort for perfection. Also included in their work was putting on concerts.

Selected for the year were Susan Campbell as student director and Curtis Graft as drum major. Together with Mrs. Diers they worked with the band in helping them with preparation for next year.

Smallest of the instrumental music groups is the SHS junior high String Ensemble. This small group of ten members spent the year learning the fundamentals of music in preparation for the coming years of high school music, as orchestra members. Also in the schedule was their participation in the annual spring concert.

DURING THE MONTH of March, many members of the instrumental music department left the band room to practice "on stage" for the spring concert. Pam Conner, Pam Reading and Roxanne Beatty, among other aspiring musicians, are shown leaving room 108.

ALL WORK AND lots of play (dramatic, that is) made "Kismet" a fine production. This shot, taken during one of the many pre-performance practices, shows cast members and the SHS orchestra rehearsing one of the colorful selections.

Music, thoroughly planned and coordinated, is offered throughout all grades in SHS. Whether the student is interested in instrumental or vocal: band, orchestra, or ensemble, a cappella or glee club, his interest will find its expression.

Long hours of effort on the parts of Mr. Ronald Becker, Mrs. Georgene Diers, Mr. Paul Swanson and Mrs. Lucille Fuehrer add to the benefits students can obtain through participation. Thanksgiving and Christmas programs, the Washington trip, spring concert and "Kismet" are all memories.

Next year even greater things will happen musically at SHS.

Tri-M Recognizes Outstanding Musicians

Modern Music Masters is one of the top extra-curricular organizations in SHS. Designed to recognize the outstanding musicians in all areas of high school music, this group provides incentive for all vocal and instrumental students to strive constantly for better performances.

Becoming a member of Tri-M is no easy task, and to be elected requires much work on the part of the individual. Inititation is held following the end of first semester, with regular weekly meetings held in the evenings. Membership include. students from grades nine through twelve.

THESPIAN INITIATION was held February 27. Fourteen new members were initiated by the present Thespian officers. In order to become a member, you must have worked one-hundred hours on a play or stage crew.

Thespians Troupe Present Comedy; Drama

Thespians Troupe 819 is an honorary society for students interested in dramatic arts. To be accepted into this organization, each member must have obtained 100 acting hours, either working as a crew member, or being in a play. Then they must be initiated, either formally or informally having to recite 10 lines of Shakespeare. This year 15 members were admitted in this club.

"Ask Any Girl", a three-act comedy was presented on December 8, being the first all-school play of the year. Then on March 17, the Thespians went to District and State Speech Contests, with a one-act play and other dramatic poetry, reading and discussions. A second all-school play was presented on May 3, 4. This was a dramatic play, entitled, "The Diary of Anne Frank".

At the end of the year, Thespians held their annual banquet for the members and their parents, here the awards for Best Actor and Actress were presented.

The group held a practice debate with Gering, and also went to Lincoln to sit in on a debate by the University of Nebraska and Colgate. Discussion groups, in which the members participated, discussed one national topic.

During the year, the group gathered material on this national topic and on how to organize and develope cases.

Sponsors of the group are Miss Helen Warford and Mr. Gary Keast.

"These are the Bearcats couldn't be prouder." This chant followed the Big Red teams wherever they went. Whether winning or losing, the enthusiasm of the crowd and pep club was never dimmed.

Experience was gained by the junior high, freshmen and reserve players as they worked their way toward positions on the varsity teams. Support from parents and businessmen helped boost the team to victory.

Along with playing the game, the athletes learn co-operation, responsibility and a sense of fair play.

Injuries incurred during the games hampered many players and took several out for the entire season.

Wrestling and cross-country brought honors to Scottsbluff this year, as did the football and basketball teams. Tennis, golf and track came into their own with the coming of spring. Intramurals were played by the hoopsters who were not on the other teams.

Scottsbluff Bearcats tangled with the Cheyenne Cowboys for the first game of the season. The Cowboys led all the way and won 70 to 50. Jim Walter was the leading Bearcat scorer with 17 points while Gary Neibauer followed close behind with 11 points. The following night the Bearcats squeezed past the Ogallala Indians in a breath-taking overtime finish. Walter, who was high point man, fired a long shot with :04 remaining which gave the Bearcats a 60-58 victory over the Indians.

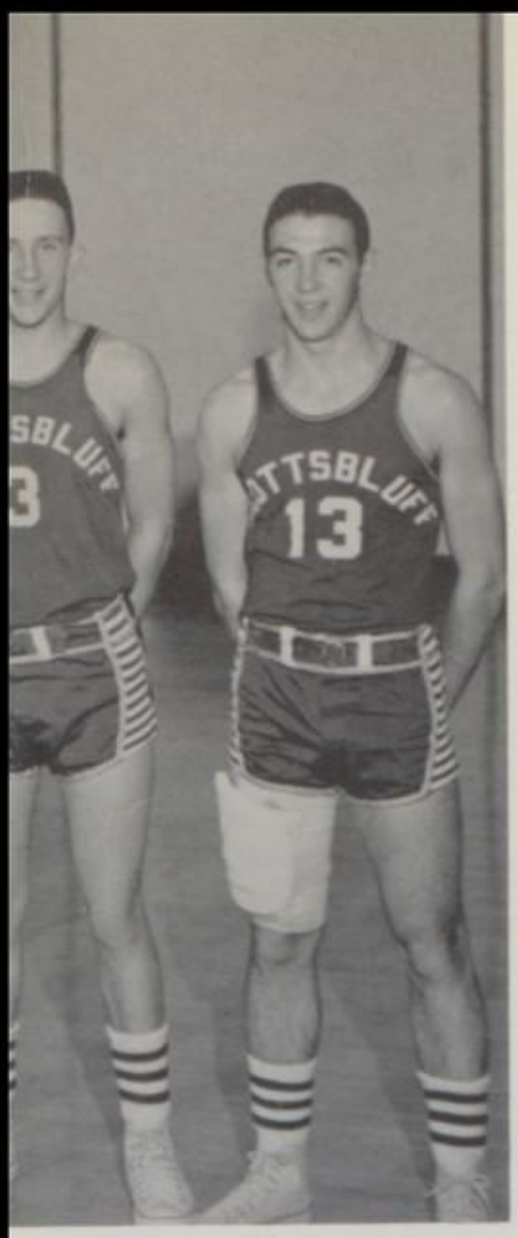
Boys Town

Scottsbluff suffered two defeats at the hands of the Boys Town Cowboys. The score of the first game being 58-34 and the second score 47-30. Although defeated, the big Red showed excellent teamwork.

For the first time in nine years, Kearney defeated the Scottsbluff Bearcats. A basket by Kearney in the final 17 seconds of an overtime won the game. Walter was high point man for the fifth consecutive game. He raked up 31 points.

McCook

Walter's layup with 2:34 left in the second quarter put the Big Red ahead for keeps against McCook. Neibauer pushed his total season's record to 69 points by scoring 18 points for the Bearcats.



JUMP, JUMP, JUMP. Hands bat at the ball to gain possession during the Scottsbluff-Alliance game. Number 35 and 25 of Alliance vie with Gary Neibauer, number 40, and Jim Walter of Scottsbluff. Several Alliance players rush in to offer assistance.

DENNIS SPURGEON, number 4, and a Kearney Bearcat have hand-to-hand combat, while Jim Walter, number 14, rushes to the rescue.

In another thrilling extra period, North Platte outscored Scottsbluff 75 to 74. Walter led the scoremakers with 28 points and was followed by Neibauer with 18. A splurge of 18 points in the final 4:20 of the game gave Kearney a 63 to 51 victory over the Big Red. Morrison took the lead with 14 points while Walter and Neibauer each netted 11 points during the game.

Alliance

Alliance gained a 6 to 0 lead in the opening 2 minutes of the game and then went ahead to take a 58 to 54 victory in the West Big Ten tilt. Walter's 14 points and Spurgeon's 12 points led the scorers for Scottsbluff. The Bearcats kept an eight year winning streak alive by defeating Gering 61 to 54. Neibauer led the victors with 17 points, followed by Walter and Spurgeon with 12 each.

North Platte

In the West Big 10 Conference game, the Big Red swept past North Platte 54 to 45. Walter again led the tally-makers with 16 points with Morrison followed with 13.

Varsity and Reserve Show Co-operative

WHO HAS THE BALL is the question being asked by John Morrison, number 20, and Chuck Winkler, number 24, while Jim Walter, number 14, fights for the rebound with an Alliance player.

Sidney won 62-52 to break a seven year victory streak by the Bearcats. Neibauer's 15 points topped the list of scorers while Dennis Spurgeon netted nine. Walter followed with eight points, the lowest total of his season.

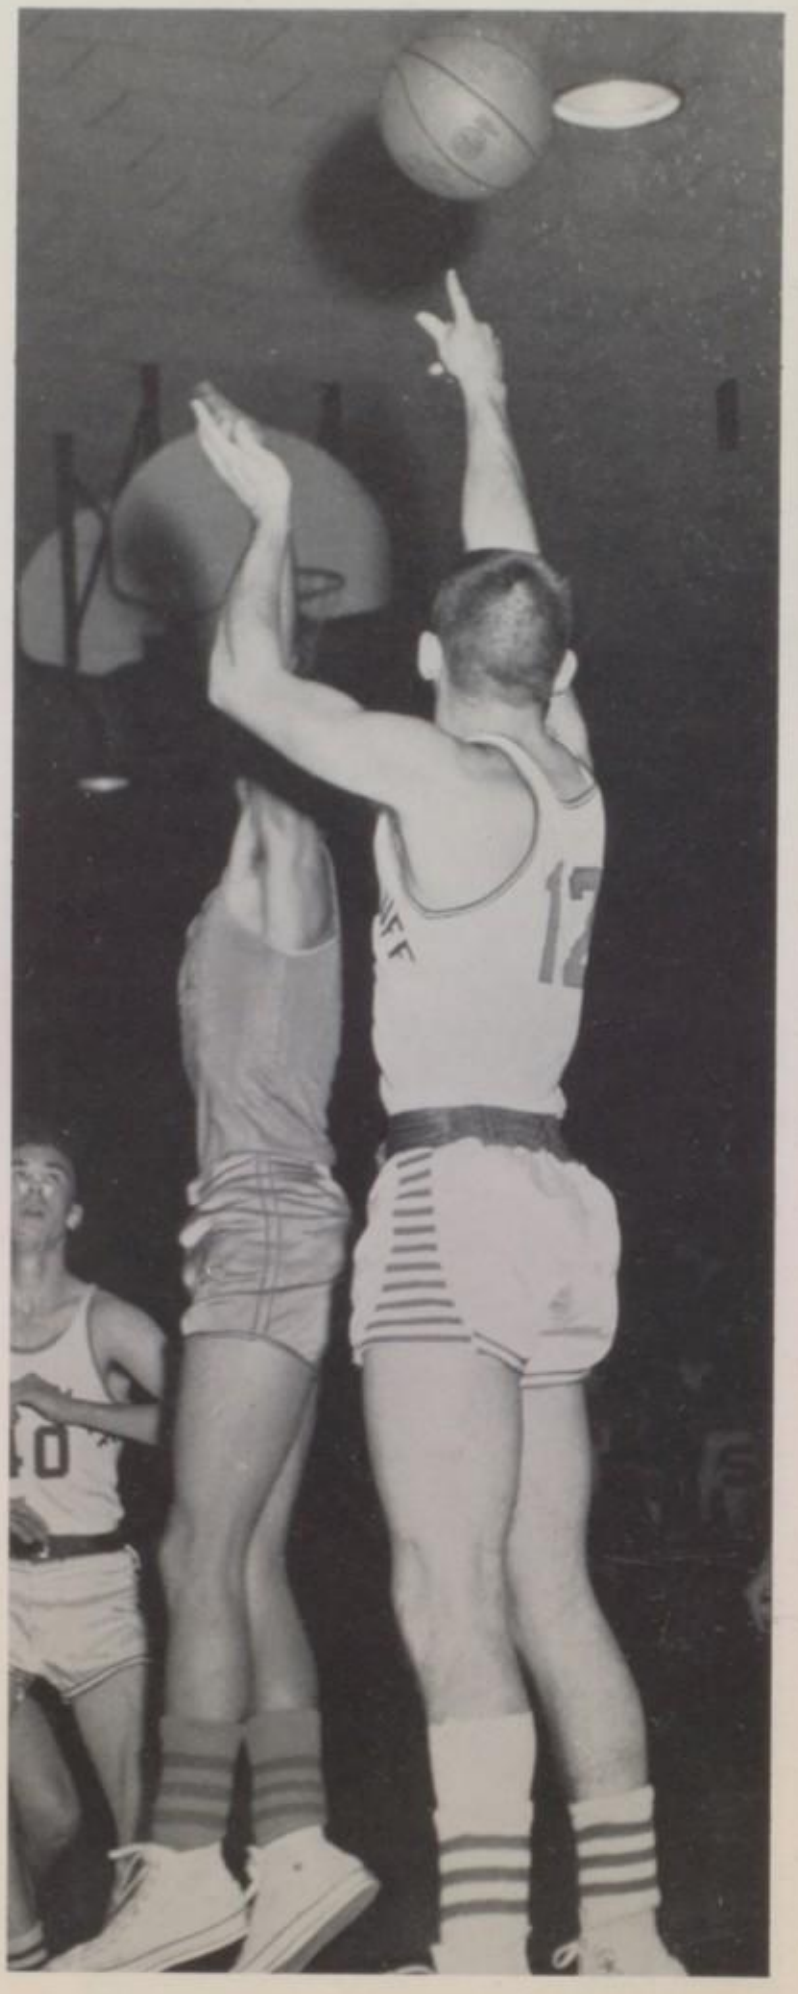
McCook

McCook went ahead 36-34 with 3:05 left in the third quarter and stayed in front the remainder of the game, taking a victory of 58-52. Walter led all scorers with 23 tallies on 9 fielders and 3 free throws.

For the first time in eight years, the Gering Bulldogs were able to squeeze past the Scottsbluff Bearcats. A basket by Jerry Webb with 1:45 left, followed by a free throw by Webb, gave the Bulldogs the final margin of 60-59. Neu, Scottsbluff's floor marshal, was leading scorer with 17. Walter with 9 points and Morrison with 8 points followed.

Cheyenne East

Cheyenne East broke their five game losing streak by defeating the Bearcats 71-61. The game was ragged and marred with 50 fouls, 29 on Scottsbluff. The Bearcats lost 4 players on fouls, Walter, Morrison, Neu and Neibauer. Neibauer's 17 points led the tally-makers. Walter and Wolcott followed with 15 and 9 points respectively.



TWO POINTS OR NOT, that is the question. Bob Hoffman, number 12, fires for a basket during the Scottsbluff-Kearney game. Gary Neibauer, number 40, is set to jump for the rebound while a Kearney player attempts to block the shot.

Honor clubs as well as service clubs consume much of the average students time. Projects carried on by these clubs place the school in the public eye and gain a worthwhile reputation for Scottsbluff High.

Entertaining the orphans at the Torrington Orphanage, giving Thanksgiving baskets, instructing new clubs and several other projects kept club members active during the year. Several of the clubs held special banquets for parents and members. Awards and degrees were earned by many clubbers and out-of-town conferences were attended by members of each club.

National Honor Society annually taps eleven juniors for membership in this club. The members are chosen on a basis of scholarship and character. At the end of the senior year, students who are qualified are then taken in a special assembly conducted by the previously chosen members.

National Honor Society Taps Scholars

To be selected for National Honor Society is a great honor. Such recognition makes one proud to know that the long years of hard study are rewarding. The chapter is not active during the school year. The scholarship honorary gives the scholar a pin. Red cords are won, to symbolize their membership in the organization, on class days, at commencement and at vespers.

Emblems of the society consist of the keystone and flaming torch. The keystone symbolizes the ideals of this society. It bears at its base the letters, C.S.L. and S. These letters stand for character, the foundation of life; scholarship, the means of achievement; leadership, aid to progress and service, the object and end of life. The flaming torch is a symbol of enlightenment. Its purpose is to follow the light of truth. During the ceremony, the lighted torch shows the spirit of society. The unlighted torch signifies knowledge.

In the junior year, the top five per cent of the class are pledged. In May of their senior year, juniors are repledged. They receive cords and pins from the principal and provide a program for commencement and initiation ceremony for the remaining eligible top ten per cent of the senior class.

Quill & Scroll Honors Top Journalists

Quill & Scroll honors students who have received an "A" or "B" in journalism. The members are in the upper third of their class.

Initiation of seniors takes place after first semester. The juniors are initiated in the spring.

Quill & Scroll has four service projects during the year. At this time, Scottsbluff initiated the Gering chapter, participated in National Newspaper Week observance and sponsored the publications banquet.

At the end of the year, Quill & Scroll sends the Echoes into competition in the international office in competition with other high school newspapers for the George A. Gallup award. He was the originator of the Gallup Polls of Public Opinion. This award is the highest honor given to high school opinions.

LOOKING BACK on their year with Quill & Scroll these top senior journalists find much over which to discuss and laugh. Initiated in the spring of 1960 these seniors are: John Ramsey, Jane Miller, Sharon Huston and Harley Shaver.

Nike Girls Help Unfortunate People

Nike is an honorary club. The upper third of the girls in the junior class are eligible and are then voted upon by the present Nike members. Twenty girls are elected. These girls then take the pledge and become full-fledged members.

This year's club had twenty senior members and fifteen junior members during the year. In the spring, five more junior girls are voted in.

"Our Rule For Life" was this year's motto. It contained the dates of meetings, programs to be held, the Collect, the pledge and the song, "What I Live For."

It is a custom that the senior members take charge of the meetings. Every month, two or three senior members prepare the program according to custom. The program was developed around lines received from the song, "What I Live For."

Nike is sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's Club organized in 1947. During the year, senior members had the privilege of attending various dinners and other events in BPO's honor.

Scholastic Approach Encouraged by Nike

Various committees were set up. Among these were program, publicity, courtesy, social and project. These committees took care of the various projects. This year's activities included a Thanksgiving project in which each member contributed to help give a basket to a needy family. A card of thanks proved the family's gratitude and was appreciated by Nike members.

Nike received third prize for their float in the Banner Day parade.

Nike-Key Club Dance held in December was the biggest event. It was given in honor of the royalty. Nike and Key Club crowned Judy Wimberly as Sweetheart and Klaus Hartman as Knight. Their attendants were SanDee Stewart, Larry Lindquist, Judy Sommer and Jack Padberg.

Secret pals were again the suspense of the year. Throughout the year, various nonsense gifts were given on certain holidays except for the Christmas gift and a spring gift, which were serious.

In February, an orphanage party was held in Torrington. Games were played and Valentine cookies were given to the orphans.

The Parent-Daughter banquet highlighted the end-of-the-year activities. The girls all helped prepare the program. During the evening, each girl introduced her parents.

Scholastic Ability Shown by Key Club

Key Club is primarily a service organization which requires a B+ average or better for admittance. All the eligible candidates are then voted on by the present members. Sophomore members were voted on in February.

Among their projects of the year, Key Club held a slave sale, changed the basketball roster and raised and lowered the flag. Their main project was installing a new club in Gering.

In July, three boys attended the international Key Club convention in Boston, Massachusetts. They were Jack Padberg, Harley Shaver and Larry Lindquist. Another convention held in Cheyenne, Wyoming, was attended in March.

During December, Key Club and Nike gave a Christmas semi-formal together.

GAA Girls Enjoy Year-Round Sports

Girls' Athletic Association, better known as GAA, provides sports activities for girls and encourages all athletics. Developing a spirit of fair play, sportsmanship, good health habits and leadership are GAA's goals.

Membership is open to all girls in grades 9 through 12. Highlights of this year included basketball, softball and volleyball games along with bowling and swimming.

All awards received required that each girl have a heart examination, satisfactory health condition and a dental check-up. High standards of sportsmanship, good posture and good grooming were also required.

Officers were elected at the first meeting in September. A meeting was then held every week. Attending the Track and Field Day on May 20 was GAA's last big event of the year.

Skittens Back Big Red With the Yell

Whether we win, or whether we lose, we're Bearcats just the same. This, among other chants was taught to Skittens by the Cheerleaders. Through the pep club and cheerleaders, much enthusiasm was created throughout the year. Putting up posters in the halls, attending most of the games, and sponsoring dances were part of this year's activities.

In January, Skittens and S-Club held a formal dance in honor of the royalty. Pat Becker was crowned Queen and Denny Spurgeon was crowned King. Their attendants were: Barbara Hartung, Art Kissack, Sharon Pauley and Jim Zier.

Skittens changed their outfits this year. It consisted of the usual red skirt, white blouse and white vest with red S on the back.

Skittens officers and six cheerleaders were chosen in the spring of the previous year. An executive board was elected in the fall of this year. It consisted of two senior members, two juniors, two sophomores and two cheerleaders.

S-Club Members Take Part in Sports,

To become a member of S-Club, one must letter in either football, basketball, track, wrestling, golf or tennis. The pledges go through an initiation before becoming active members.

Various activities carried on by S-Club during the year included keeping the basketball roster up to date, making the popcorn for the games, sponsoring the Harlem Clowns vs. the Scottsbluff Merchants basketball game and a football and basketball supper at the V.F.W.

Boys built and entered a float in the Banner Day parade. During January, they joined with Skittens to give a formal dance at Westmore grade school, where they presented the S-Club queen and her two attendants.

At the end of the year, they had a picnic to which S-Club members and the cheerleaders were invited. The third annual "Fun Night" was attended by the members and their dates. Everyone enjoyed playing games in the gym and then watching movies of previou football games.

BILL ORWIG, ATHLETIC DIRECTOR from Lincoln, Nebraska, seems to keep the S-Club boys quite intentive. This year's football banquet was given at the VFW hall and was sponsored by the Elks in honor of S-Club.

Foundation Through Benefit Dance

Teen Queens is a service organization. This year's club started out by having a Bum's Barter. Prizes were given to the best bum and received their prizes after the picnic held at the park.

Other activities included bringing canned foods or fresh vegetables for Thanksgiving basket, caroling, building of float, semi-formal dance which was a March of Dimes Benefit Dance and contributing toys to the Cosmopolitan Club's Christmas party. A wallblock was held in January to collect contributions for the Polio Drive. A valentine tea was held in February honoring their mothers.

Concluding this year's activities was a gym party and talent show held in the spring.

Hi-Y's Aim Is Gaining Friendship of

Hi-Y's principal purpose is to create, maintain and extend the high standards of Christian leadership throughout the school and the community.

During October the boys constructed a Banner Day float. They also gave a Christmas formal dance and a Sweet Heart Ball in February. Attending a progressive supper and sponsoring an after-game dance were other social activities.

Comprising their moneyraising projects were the selling of candy and a car wash held in November.

During Thanksgiving vacation, five boys attended the Model Legislature at Lincoln. Holy Week services were held in March and a picnic was held in May for new members.

FTA Members Become Familiar With

Future Teachers of America has developed under the leadership of the National Education Association; today it has thousands of members.

Various films were shown to the group to promote interest in the many fields of teaching. Speakers talked on different colleges, elementary teaching, secondary teaching and special education. Several teachers gave a panel discussion entitled "What Influenced Me to Become a Teacher."

Decorating the bulletin boards, constructing a float for the Banner Day parade and visiting a teacher's college provided enjoyment for FTA members. Selecting new officers and Mr. and Miss Future Teacher highlighted the end of the year's activities.

FTA'S BULLETIN BOARD ATTRACTS its sponsors. Considering how the theme of this poster will be employed at the next meeting are FTA sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. James Mansfield.

FHA Girls Work for Development of Future Homemakers of America is a national organization, encompassing the United States and most of its territories. Membership is voluntary and dues support the organization. Any girl may join, if she is taking or has taken a course in Homemaking.

Social activities of this year included a Christmas caroling party, a Halloween Party, swimming parties and collecting clothes for bundle days.

In September Mrs. Jane Drake, Mary Lou Kloch, Laurlie Kaufman, Janet Benzel, Carol Ehrhart attended the district convention. They were responsible for making programs for the day's events.

Making favors for the hospital, visiting a city council meeting and assisting with the foreign food meals were their contributions to some of the community activities.

Climaxing the year's events, was an installation of officers at a Mother's Tea.

ONE OF THE MODERN MACHINES used in vocational agricultural shop is demonstrated by Mr. Warren Scoggan, FFA sponsor.

FFA Works Toward Goal

Future Farmers of America is a National organization of farm youth studying vocational agriculture. It is designed to take its place beside other agencies striving for development of leadership, building a more permanent agriculture and improvement of country life.

This year's recreation was centered around hayrides, a roller skating party and a Parent-Son Banquet.

of Establishing Farming Businesses

Comprising their money-raising project was the selling of light bulbs.

Conducting a farm safety survey and publicizing FFA were their contributions to the community.

Safety was stressed during FFA's year of service. Safety campaigns were encouraged at home, on the highways, in the shop and in the fields. This helped to guard and protect life and property.

School life at SHS is centered around various extra-curricular activities. Dances and pep rallies boost school spirit and give the incentive to win. Practical experience in government is gained by the students who serve on Student Council.

Skits, by both Skittens and S-Club, presented sports with a humorous slant. The pep band played at both the pep rallies and the games.

Dances filled up many evenings for the students. Semi-formals and formals were held in honor of the royalty chosen by the clubs.

Information and news was furnished to the student body by The ECHOES and the student radio show. The history of the year was recorded in the 1961 BLUFF.

Student Council serves as the government of the school. This year the council presented a Talent Show and raised money for a foreign exchange student.

Student Council's chief objective this year was to promote good continuity between the faculty and student body.

Share the Fare, Banner Day ceremonies, Seventh Grade elections, talent show and selling programs were among their activities for the '60-'61 school year.

Seven members and two sponsors from the Student Council attended the State Student Council Convention in Columbus, Nebraska.

School Spirit Reflected by Banner Day

BEARCAT BANNER DAY Attendants Roger Heilbrun, Donna Scott, Judy Bartlett and Marv Neu watch with envy as King Jim Walter kisses Queen Jane Brungardt. The Royalty was chosen by the student body from fifteen candidates at the morning ceremony which began the day's festivities.

A CAPPELLA FLOAT won first prize in the Banner Day Parade. A Band received second prize, and Nike received third prize. There were ten floats in the parade.

Each year organizations nominate candidates for Banner Day Royalty. The entire student body then votes on the nominees.

Crowning of the royalty took place at a morning assembly in which the A Cappella Choir sang "The Girl of My Dreams," as the royalty was tapped.

After being introduced by the junior tappers, each royalty member received an engraved gold football as a symbol of the honor bestowed upon them.

Floats entered by the organizations in school, along with the bands and Skittens marching unit, composed the colorful Banner Day Parade which took place in the afternoon.

A large star with stairs leading to the center was formed by the band which the royalty climbed during the half-time presentation ceremony. After the presentation, the Banner Day Royalty remained in the center while the band played "Stairway to the Stars."

Serving as a written history of the '60-'61 school year, the Bluff contains pictures of students and activities, and information about organizations and faculty.

After finishing a year of General Journalism, the students become staff members. During their senior year, the staff members were busy drawing layouts and assigning pictures.

Among other changes, the general layout of the book was changed. The senior section was moved from the front to the back of the book and a character was used in place of a theme.

Combining the Bluff and the supplement cut down the length of the subscription campaign.

Six Distributive Education members attended State DE Convention in Columbus, Nebraska this year at which Gordon Schaub was elected as the state vice-president.

The convention was developed for the purpose of discussing retail problems and for all members of the state to exchange ideas and trends.

In DE class, members learn about types, functions, operations and skills of most businesses. DE held a breakfast in which all members invited their respective bosses. In all there were sixty employers that attended the breakfast.

For the Distributive Education class, the '60-'61 year was profitable.

Radio Group Has "On Air" Experiences.

Flashing red light—"On the Air"—programs entitled "Bearcat Tales" beamed across the airways.

This year members of the Radio Production Group spent more time learning the techniques of putting together an actual show, airing it weekly on two local stations and then analyzing it for improvement of subsequent programs.

Early in the year, the members were divided into staffs of continuity, music library, announcing and engineering. A tight little group met twice a week to gather news, select records, prepare scripts and complete the technical necessities which brought improved radio shows from Scottsbluff High to the listening Scottsbluff public.

MAKING A LAST MINUTE check on the script and records as they leave for the radio station are Station Manager Everett Bartlett, Programs Directors Judy Cisar and Judy Deines, and Productions sponsor Mr. Bruce R. Minteer.

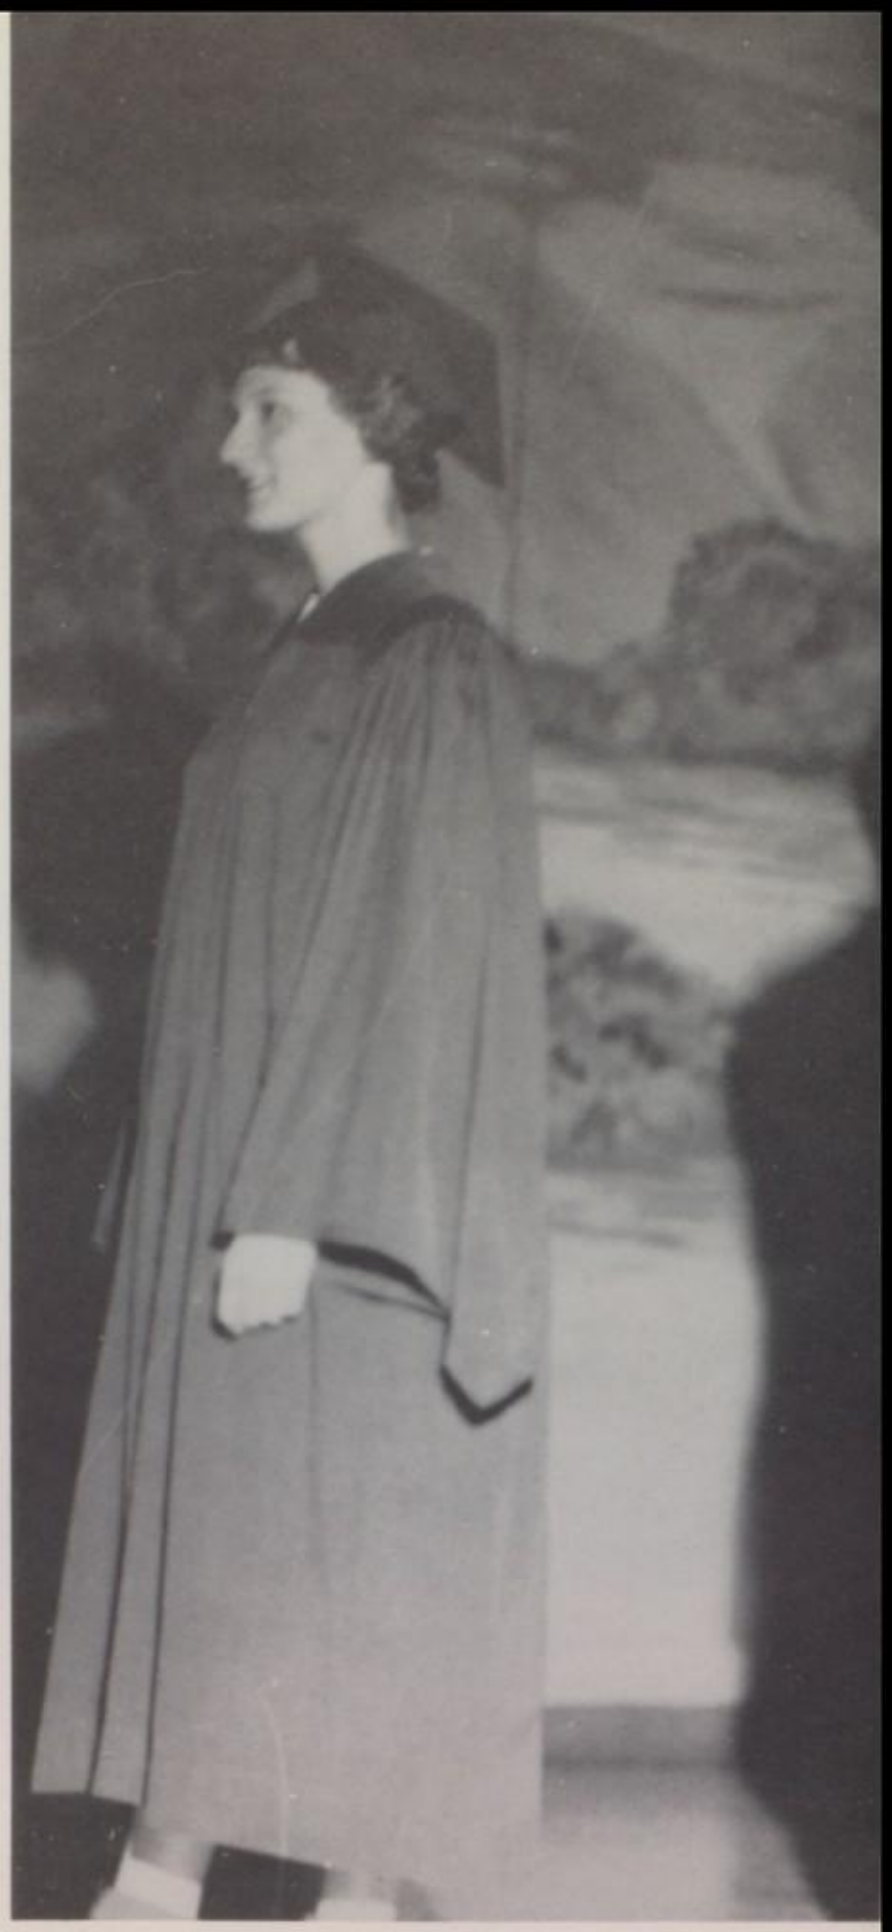
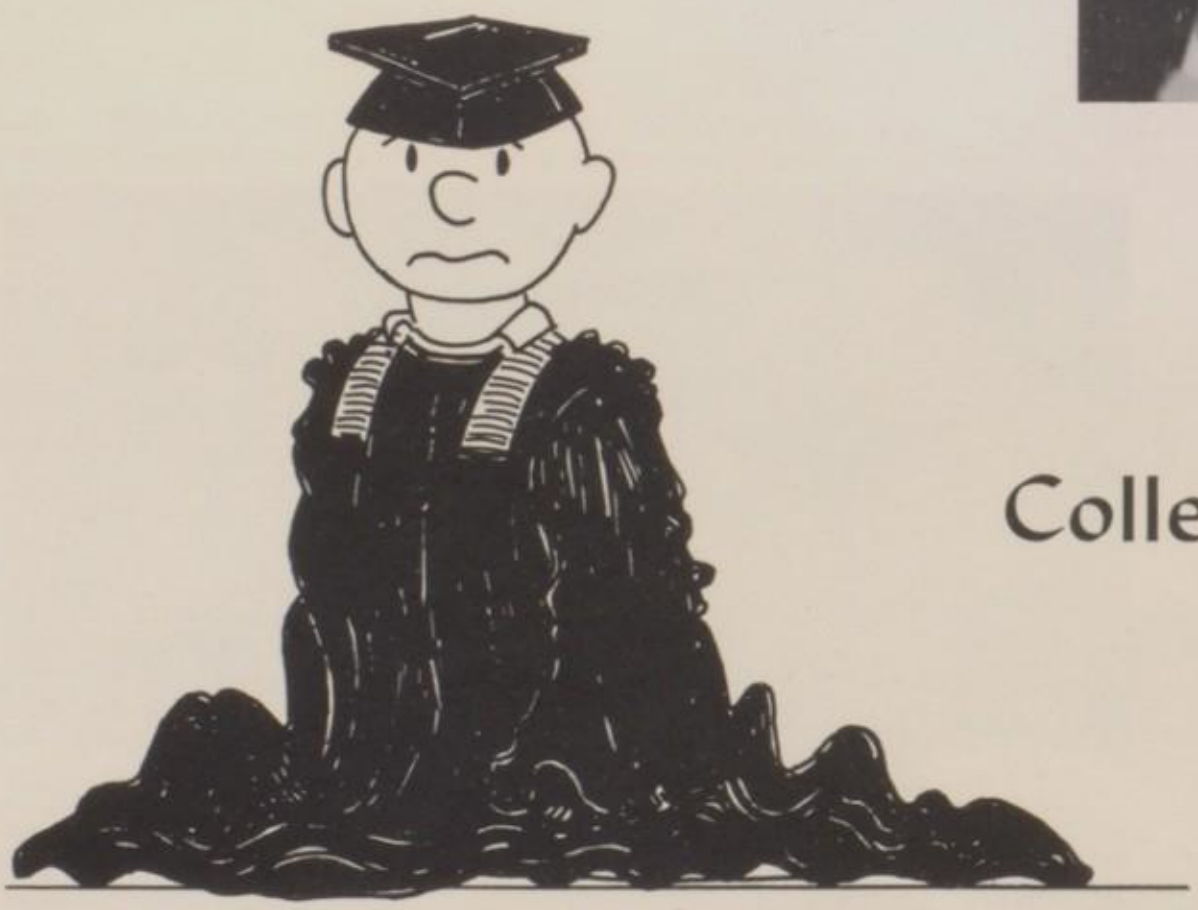
Crossing the threshold of SHS for the last year, the seniors look back and are met by fond memories.

Throughout the underclass grades, the students gained confidence in themselves and learned self-reliance. As seventh and eighth graders, the experience of meeting new people and making new friends confounded many. However, in the ninth, tenth and eleventh grades they became accustomed to the continual change and were able to take on more responsibilities.

Completing the requirements for graduation and working toward careers were the things that influenced the schedules for seniors. But, studies didn't fill all the time. Holding offices in clubs, organizing activities and special get-togethers filled all the spare time there was. The last few days were filled with special observances such as the senior breakfast, vespers, commencement and the prom and banquet.





College days . . . prom

JUDY BARTLETT, VICE-PRESIDENT seems puzzled over one of the many issues faced by the seniors this year.

PRESIDENT LARRY NELSON demonstrates his leadership in a most convincing manner.

As freshmen we were timid, trying to model ourselves after examples set by the upperclassmen.

Our sophomore year brought more responsibility and proved to be one of the most constructive years.

Every junior splurged on his class ring and faced dilemmas the rest of the year. The judicial knowledge widened for a select few who represented us during County Government Day. As juniors we had the responsibility of contributing toward the efforts of making the prom and banquet an everlasting memory.

We returned to school in the fall as seniors, faced with play practice, scholarship tests, work and activities which required all our energy.

Since this was our last year, we endeavored to do our best in every way. Setting an example for the underclassmen was difficult, but proved to be a very necessary aid in modeling our own future.

The year swept by all too soon, but the future lies before us filled with whatever our best efforts will produce.

In Memory of
OTHA ZANE MORAN
a member of the class of 1961

THE CLASS OF 1961

We have reached the end of the trail in high school and are stepping through the door of the present into the future.

Leaving Scottsbluff High, we have no regrets, for our eyes shine with the privilege of being allowed, at last, tc enter the mysterious realm of adults.

Drawing near is that long-awaited day. As we look down the halls, we experience the great sadness with which we must leave Scottsbluff High after six years of never-to-be-forgotten memories. The prom—banquet—commencement — convocation — winning teams—senior breakfast—and just the everyday enjoyment of being a senior at SHS.

We thank those people who took over the care for us and wanted to make us fit for the life ahead. They were always willing to give us a word of advice, a friendly hello or some praising remark. We especially want to thank the administration for their guidance.

Under the guidance of class officers and sponsors, the underclassmen spent a busy school year.

Earning money for the Junior-Senior Prom and Banquet was a new experience for the juniors. They shouldered each new responsibility with perseverance and gained personal satisfaction from a deed well done.

Learning to drive became the main goal of every sophomore. Drivers' Training and First Aid classes helped them meet some of their graduation requirements as well. The students were eligible for membership in more clubs this year and active participation helped enrich their lives and prepare them for the future.

Thoroughly accustomed to changing classes and the life in high school, the freshmen began to take part in the clubs and sport activities. Following the freshman teams, having parties and meeting new people kept their heads whirling throughout the year.

Juniors Learn Through Experience

Selling at football and basketball games, wrestling matches and track meets was one of the main duties of the juniors. They tried their hardest to raise enough money to give the seniors a nice prom and banquet. All this work was worth it, for the prom turned out to be a big success because of the help given by class officers, the Junior Council and the juniors themselves.

In the spring of the year, the juniors in the upper third of the class were given the opportunity to take the National Merit Scholarship exams. In November and April, many of the juniors tried out for parts in the all-school plays.

With the excitement of getting their class rings in December, the knowledge gained by the few who visited court on County Government Day and the privilege of taking advanced courses in science, journalism and mathematics, the juniors spent a very satisfactory year. The juniors will never forget the joys they shared together in classrooms, at class parties and at the games.

Marching into the senior section on Class Day, the juniors looked back with satisfaction. Contentment and sorrow filled their hearts as they looked forward to their last big year as seniors in high school.

Raise Funds for Junior-Senior Prom

"COKES, CANDY, GUM, POPCORN," was a familiar cry heard in the stands during the football, basketball games, track meets and wrestling matches this year. Juniors Neal Patterson and Jerry Knaub do their part in raising money for the Junior-Senior Prom and Banquet.

STUDY—FUN—These two words really became understood in the Sophomore year. Sophomores were required to take world history, English, first aid and driver's training. Electives are usually chosen from art, science, math., languages, choir or band.

English students gain skill in basic grammar and an appreciation of literature. Awareness of the world, past and present, becomes apparent in world history classes. In first aid, students learn how to tie bandages, how to care for the injured and how to administer artificial respiration. Driver's training classes turn out potential experts at the wheel and help to make the roads safer for everyone.

A wide variety of extracurricular activities are open to Sophomores. The girls may join the pep club or teen queens; boys may join Hi-Y or "S" Club if they participate and letter in a sport and both are offered a choice of many other clubs.

Class parties are enjoyed by all. Those with interest in dramatics work on the plays; those with talent work on the Talent Show, and the musically inclined join a choir and work on the operetta. When the year ended, the Sophomores felt that their time had been well spent.

Freshmen Proudly Begin High School

Freshmen at last, as they entered high school they were afraid and timid, but soon they became accustomed to being part of the high school. Finally, they were old enough to attend after-game dances and do other things with the upper-classmen.

New to their vocabulary was the term "elective." Beside the required subjects, English, social studies, and physical education, Freshmen could choose two electives. These were usually chosen from math., general science, foreign language and glee. New study habits had to be learned, getting assignments in class and then doing them in study halls.

Class parties were attended by a majority of the freshmen. Entertainment was the highlight of the evening, boys dressed as girls imitating cheerleaders, groups giving pantomimes, and others presenting their musical abilities. As the year ended the class looked forward eagerly to their remaining years of high school.

Through Leadership, an Active Class Prepares for the High School Years

Eighth graders felt at home in the junior high when they returned to classes in the fall. With eager anticipation they started their classes of English, physical education, health, social studies, guidance, art, music, homemaking or shop, science and arithmetic. Outside activities added to their development.

English classes developed reading and grammar skills for the eighth grade students. Physical education developed strong bodies and health taught them how to take care of their bodies. Social studies students learned about history of Nebraska and of the world. Guidance classes gave students sound advice to help them in the choice of their high school schedule. Art and music aided in cultural development. Homemaking taught girls useful skills for the future, while shop developed the boys' mechanical abilities. Awareness of surroundings became a trait after taking the science course. Arithmetic taught them to think systematically.

Class parties were a source of amusement for everyone. Junior high sports were eagerly participated in by a majority of the boys. When the year ended the students looked ahead to starting high school in the fall.

Class of '66 Fulfill

Seventh graders were filled with awe when they entered high school. Attending classes of English, geography, arithmetic, physical education, health, homemaking or shop and music, they learned to get used to changing rooms for each different subject. After several embarrassing times of getting in the wrong class, they became oriented with the new surroundings and the new atmosphere.

There was also an adjustment in their social life. Class parties, a new treat for the seventh graders, were attended by a large majority of the class. Boys enjoyed participating in junior high sports, football, basketball and track. At the end of the year, the class was anxious to begin their next year as eighth graders.

Businessmen look to Scottsbluff High School students as present and future customers. The students look to the businessmen for support in activities and to furnish needed merchandise.

Through the advertising section, the student body is made aware of the number of retail businesses that offer services to them. Many of these services are used now, but a majority of them won't be used until later in the individual's life.

Along with furnishing 48% of the money for the production of the yearbook, advertising offers the staff members a chance for personal contact with the businessmen. Selling advertisements teaches the staffers responsibility and initiative. Layouts and ideas for each individual ad are made up by the sales person and approved by the buyer. Each salesman is then responsible for the satisfaction of the customer.

Zwetzig, Ellis 167

in closing . . .

Through this yearbook, the staff has presented to the students a complete history of the year. We have made a record book which we hope will also serve as a memory book for years to come. This book also serves as a public relations media between the school and community.

In completing the book and looking upon the work that was done, we feel that color is not necessarily depicted in shades of red, yellow and blue, but rather through the use of well-composed, good contrasting action candid pictures. We have tried to gain an expression of life, mood and vitality in the school by employing the use of varied photographic and layout technics.

Along with the staff, many of the townspeople, businessmen and other students helped make this book possible. We would sincerely like to thank Charles and Jim Downey of Downey's Midwest Studio for their assistance who photos; Bill Madden of the Scottsbluff Star-Herald for sports assistance, and Dick Thompson of Taylor Publishing Company for aid in solving problems arising about publication. In the school itself we would like to thank the office staff for assisting in typing and mimeographing and SanDee Stewart and Pat Becker for their help in writing copy.

We hope you have enjoyed this book. We have thoroughly enjoyed publishing it for you.

Thank you,

Sharon Huston

The 1961 Bluff Supplement . . .

Spring Sports; Activities; Honors.

The Junior and Senior League of Intramural was made up of six teams. Gordon Schaub's team won regular season play with a record of nine wins and one loss. In tournament play, John Ramsey's team, with an 8-2 record for the season, outlasted Schaub in three overtimes to become champs of the Junior and Senior League. In the Freshman and Sophomore League, there were ten teams. Allen and Schwartzkoph battled to a tie in regular season, while in the tournament, Allen's team outlasted Schwartzkoph for the trophy.

Jr. Highers Prove Successful at Track.

Scottsbluff Junior Highers had a very successful season by winning five out of six track meets. The Bearcubs won two dual meets with Gering, the Alliance Invitational, the West Big Ten Meet at North Platte, which the seventh, eighth and ninth grades attended, and the Scottsbluff Invitational. The only meet they lost was the Dual Meet with Torrington. Records that were broken at these meets included: 220 yard dash by Jim Zimmerman, who tied the meet record in :25.0, and the 880 relay by Paul Kawaguchi, Grady Waugh, Mike Darnell and Jim Zimmerman in 1:45.8. The pole vault record was broken in the Scottsbluff Invitational by Steve Kehl, who set a new record of 9'9". The Freshman set a new record in the West Big Ten Meet in the 440 relay by running it in :49.5.

"HITTING THE BALL is usually our aim," quips Steve Tando, junior, as he prepares to tee off.

Five boys lettered in golf this year. Included were: Travis Hiner, Mike Gahagan, Bill Bitner, Rusty Lovell and Steve Tando. Meets were held at North Platte, Alliance, Sidney and Kimball; the Bluffs scored high in each meet. Meets at home were played with Sidney and Alliance, Scottsbluff losing both. Travis Hiner, Bluff junior, was the only boy to win a medal; receiving it at the Alliance meet.

This year's tennis squad played three matches. The first match was with North Platte, here. North Platte won eight matches and Scottsbluff won one. At the Big Ten, held at Hastings, Scottsbluff placed fifth out of six. At North Platte, the Bearcats played Kearney and the Platters, placing fourth. Due to late entry, the tennis squad did not attend the State Meet. Last fall, a match was played with Cheyenne, with Cheyenne winning six and the Bluffs taking one.

VARSITY TRACK TEAM, front, from left: Coach Bud Harris, Gordon Schaub, Marv Neu, Darold Henry, John Morrison, Dane Jay, Mel Lana, Jim Walker, Ted Yost, Art Kissack, Harley Shaver, Harlen Aden, Everett Lojka, Coach Wayne Binfield. Second: Coach Bill Gogan, Gary Neibauer, Charles Scriven, Doyle Yarnell, Rick Stangel, Don Wolcott, Frank Costa, Marv Dike, Skip Jacobsen, Coach Jerry Hooper. Third: Coach Bill Putman, Allen Russell, John Payne, Herb Gerhard, Les Austin, J. Scottsbluff's Cross-Country team had an undefeated season. The only race in which a Scottsbluff entrant did not place first was at the Kearney State Teacher's College Invitational. Led by Darold Henry, the squad's only returning letterman, Scottsbluff strided its way over the two-mile course to a Big Ten Championship by placing 1, 2, 3, 4, and scoring the perfect tally of ten points. In the State Meet, held in Lincoln, the Bearcats came through again. Finishing the 1.9-mile course in record-breaking time were Joe Perez, first, (9:45); Tiger Henry, second, (9:40); Allen Russell, fifth, (9:56); Bernard Acevedo, sixth, (10:05); and Dave Jacobsen, twenty-fifth. This year's lettermen included: Darold Henry, Joe Perez, Allen Russell, Bernard Acevedo, Dave Jacobsen, Jack Couch, Herb Gerhard, Steve Hunt and Les Austin.

Including Honors, Medals, Trophies.

Three records were broken during the West Nebraska High School Track and Field Meet. Jim Kettlehut, of Alliance, broke the record for the 880 in 1:59.9 and also came back to anchor the Alliance mile relay team in a 3:37.2 clocking to wipe out the 3:38.1 record posted by Scottsbluff last year. Richard Woss, of Alliance, repeated as high jump Gold Medal winner with a leap of 6' 1½" in shattering his own mark of 6' 1/8", posted last spring. Ken Klein, of Gering, soared 11' 11¾" in the pole vault to break the school record of 11' 9¼", posted by J. Barton in 1951.

Scottsbluff took the Grand Champion trophy, as well as first place in the Class "A" division.

PROMISING SOPHOMORE, Gary Neibauer, illustrates his ability to run the high hurdles in the West Nebraska Track Meet.

"WILL HE make it or won't he?" wonder a few spectators as sophomore Cal Nickal poles across the bar.

Operetta Production, "Kismet," Highlights

SLAVE GIRLS: Are you a prince, a noble, an Emir? Where is your palace? Poet: Ladies, I am a Poet! Haji expounds in his versatility as a poet, while he tries to sell rhymes to his slave girls (Carolyn Brott and Ellen Ann Baker).

THE THREE beggars (Ron Plaster, Jack Padberg, Herb Gerhard) can't quite understand what the poet (Dennis Krausnick) has on his mind, but they know that he's not a legitimate beggar.

WAZIR (Mel Lana) questions Lalume (Linda Weisgerber), as she enters the bazaar of caravans, about the three beauties which she brought to please the Caliph.

Spring Activities for Choir Members.

IN THE END, the Poet, who is forced to live out his days with Lalume, gives his daughter, Marsinah (Jean Donovan), to the Caliph (Art Junge) to be his bride.

Kismet

"Kismet" is the romantic tale of a roguish legendary Poet of old Baghdad.

Poems seem a non-profit business, forcing the Poet to beg, which is very profitable. Profitable for only a short time, for he is kidnapped by Jawan, who mistakes him for Haji, the beggar.

No sooner does the Poet succeed in removing a curse from Jawan, than he is arrested and brought before the Wazir. A turn a fate reveals Jawan, also arrested, as the Wazir's father. A promise which the Poet made to Jawan is fulfilled, and the Wazir is impressed with the Poet's magic powers.

Meanwhile, Marsinah, the Poet's daughter, has fallen in love with the Caliph.

In exchange for a rich loan, the Wazir promises the Shiek of Ababu that the Caliph will wed the Three Princesses of Ababu. The Wazir appoints the Poet to prevent the Caliph's marriage. A perplexing situation.

Much drama, some comedy, and a misfortune finally unite Marsinah and the Caliph, and free the Poet from his obligation.

FOR THE FINAL curtain call, the entire cast of "Kismet" sings "Night of My Nights." Over sixty vocalists appear before the audience for the final selection.

All-School Play, "Diary of Anne Frank,"

Moving their clothes and personal effects into their hideout are the Franks and Van Daans. For twenty-five months, while hiding from the Germans, two families lived in constant fear of being detected. During this time Anne keeps a diary telling of her experiences from a young girl to a young lady.

There were three motives included in the choice of this play that should be passed on.

First is that this is a play with a message. This is a true story. These people were real people. These events show one of the great tragedies that have happened in our lifetime and are still happening. Perhaps we can find in this young girl's diary some hope for the future.

Secondly, the play itself blends well to simplified setting and mood lighting. This goes along with Thespians' program of offering the people of this community varied and interesting theater productions.

Timeliness is the third motive of this play. Today's newspapers carry the day by day accounts of the trial of one of the men, Aldolph Eichmann, responsible for the historic events around which this revolves.

Susan Everett and Bev Lucke are applying last minute touches to Dick Nazarenus' make-up before he goes on stage.

Completes Thespians Work for the Year.

Mr. Frank is trying to reassure Anne that life in the attic won't last forever and that she will be better off here than running around.

Mr. Frank has returned to Holland after two years in a German concentration camp. Memories are revived; Mr. Frank relives months of hiding.

Eight Jewish people living in fear and hiding for twenty-five months provides the backdrop for the spring play, "Diary of Anne Frank." These Jews are forced into hiding during WW II because of the Jewish persecution by Hitler.

Although these people must be absolutely quiet until 6:00 each night in order to avoid detection, Anne still manages to joke and have fun.

Only two people know that they are in the building. These friends, Miep and Mr. Kraler, supply them with food and other essentials.

On August 4, 1944, the Green Police invaded the attic and sent them to concentration camps.

"In spite of this, I believe that people are really good at heart." These words, spoken by a thirteen year old girl who spent two of her hardest years in hiding, shows her tremendous faith in the human race.

Talent Show Finances Exchange Student.

In this act from the Broadway production, "South Pacific," Mike Warren portrays the part of Honey Bun. This was one of the many acts presented at the Student Council talent show, "Talent Unlimited."

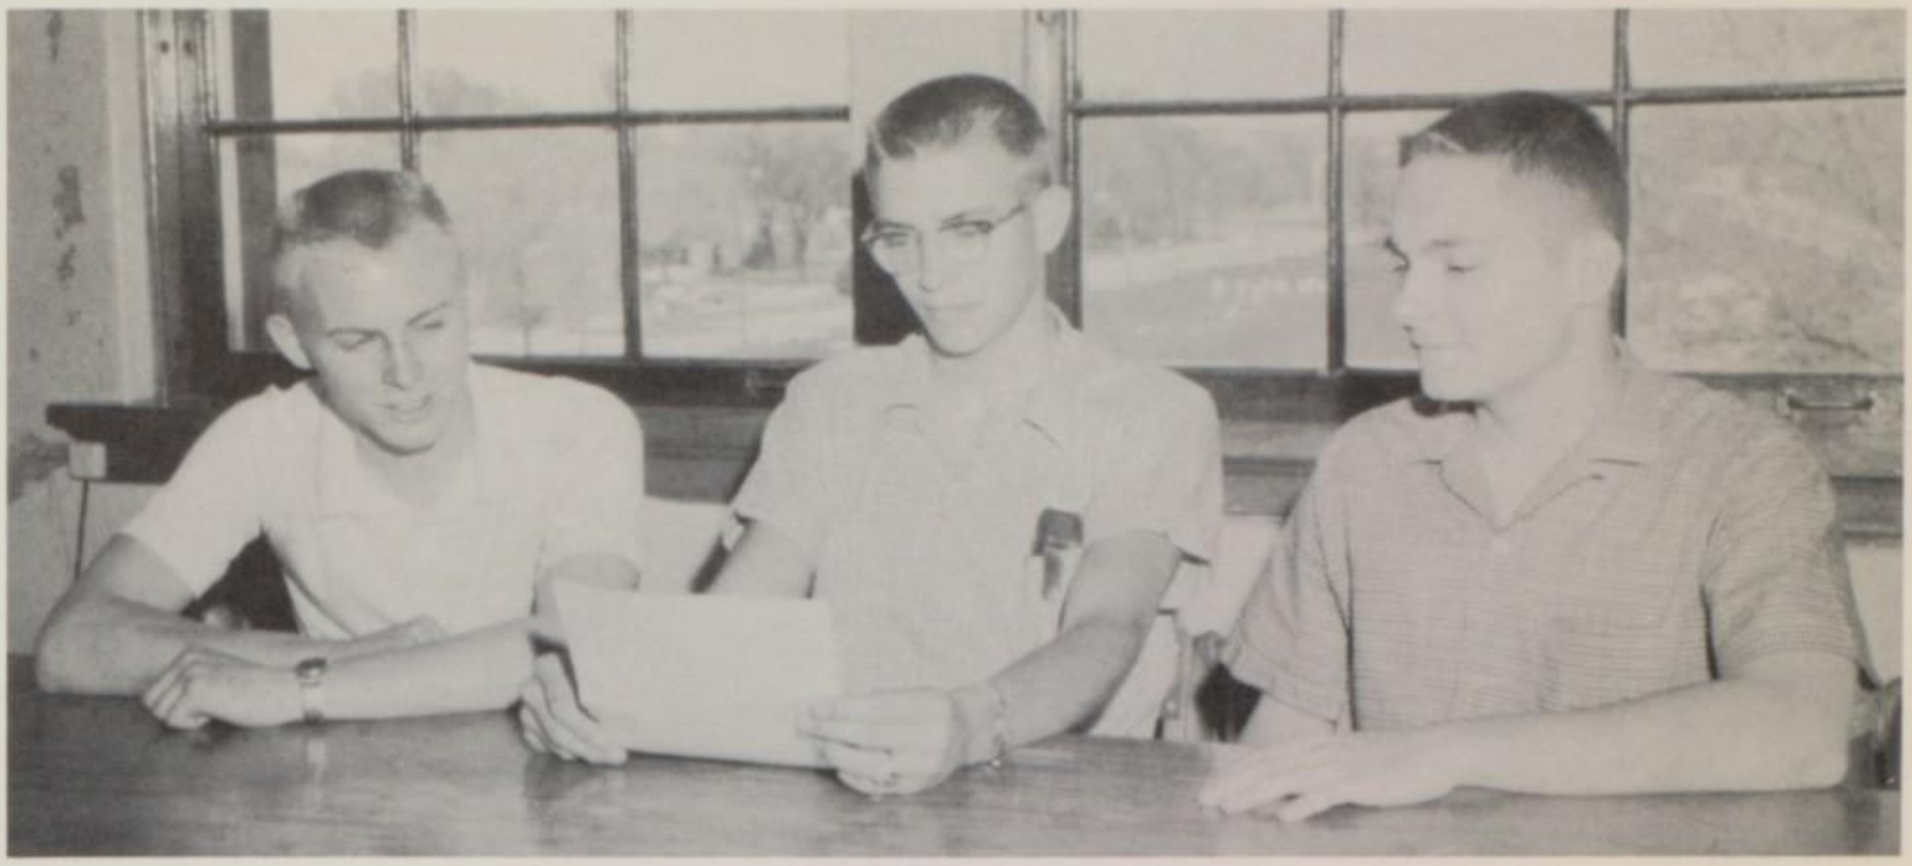
Larry Nelson, Larry Lindquist and Mel Lana await their turn to display their talent while other cast members look on.

"Talent Unlimited," a talent show sponsored by the Student Council, raised the money necessary for the '61-'62 foreign exchange student.

Years previous to this, Student Council has sponsored plays for their fund raising project.

Masters of ceremonies for the talent show were Dave Barfoot and Mike Warren. The production consisted of approximately fifteen acts, with jokes and narration performed by Mike and Dave.

Scholarship Merits Travel Home, Abroad.



Rusty Lovell, John Rogers and Joe Travelute were chosen from the Junior Class boys for their leadership and their scholastic record. They will attend the Boys' State Convention at Lincoln, Nebraska, this summer.

Barbara Thompson, the American Field Service Foreign Exchange student, will spend the '61-'62 school year in Japan with the Nakamura family.

Ann Massie was chosen from the Junior Class girls to attend the Girls' State Convention on June 17-23. Her alternate is Jane Ballentine.

FTA Members Experience Honors, Trips.

FTA's TRIP TO LARAMIE proved to be both educational and interesting for the 42 members who made the trip. It was great fun; however, many members finished the day with sore feet. The morning was spent touring the University High School; during the afternoon they were permitted to see the departments of their choice. Here students are shown coming out the modern University of Wyoming campus library.

Lela Beaird

SELECTED AS Mister and Miss Future Teacher by the members of the 1960-61 FTA members were Lela Beaird and Roger Heilbrun.

THIRD GRADERS look on with great enthusiasm as Sharon Huston explains of what a tree-dweller's house consisted. This spring, all senior members of FTA participated in the cadet teaching program for two days, during which they were allowed to observe and teach. The program included kindergarten through seventh grades.

NEW MEMBERS OF QUILL AND SCROLL were initiated into the club this spring by its present members. These top journalists are, front, from left: John Ramsey, Harley Shaver, Jane Miller. Second: Barbara Hartung, Sharon Huston, Barbara Henderson. Third: Carolyn Brott, Judy Sommer, Wilmetta Rusch. Fourth: Jane Ballentine, Judy Bartlett, Jane Brungardt. Fifth: Donna Scott, Evelyn Anderson. Back: Di Kosman and Brenda Haun. Not pictured is Karen Denton.

This year Karen Denton, a senior, was given the Quill and Scroll Award of Honor for her contribution to journalism. She served as Copy and Feature Editor on the ECHOES.

Junior members who will retain their membership in Quill and Scroll for next year are: Di Kosman, Jane Ballentine, Brenda Haun and Carolyn Brott.

Journalists Receive Variety of Honors.

DENNIS KRAUSNICK AND John Reiser were honored at the Silver Key luncheon at the University of Nebraska School of Journalism for their columns which appeared in issues of the ECHOES this year. Krausnick received the Silver Key and Reiser received first honorable mention in column writing. Here, they look over some of their work with great pride.

CHEERLEADERS PRESENT and future are presented to the student body following the tapping of the 1961-62 yellbelles. Included, from left, Jean Donovan, Skittens' president; Sue Albro, Sonya Vasquez, Marcia Johns, Carol Ustohal, Lucille Stobel, Linda Micek, Pam Micek, Ronda Sitzman, Trudy Bullock, Kathi Reading and Sharon Conklin. Present cheerleaders wear their uniforms for the last time.

Skittens Tap Cheerleaders and Officers.

ONLY A PORTION of the membership of the SHS pep organization, Skittens, are seen during the morning of their picnic. This was the last activity climaxing a year of hard work and fun.

SURPRISE and a little shock registers on the face of Marcia Johns, after being tapped by Sue Albro as one of the 1961-62 Cheerleaders.

HER REPLACEMENT as Skittens president is tapped by out-going office-holder, Jean Donovan, to be Marri Guettler.

AT THE PICNIC, new officers of Skittens were presented. They included: Dolores Miller, student council representative; Margo Bartlett, vice-president; Jan Johnson, treasurer; Marlene Johns, under secretary; Jeanne Pointer, secretary; Marri Guettler, president.

Junior-Senior Prom, Banquet Provides

STUDENTS AND FACULTY enjoyed the banquet, at which time the theme was introduced. John Jones and John Reiser make a few remarks which seem to go unnoticed by those to whom the meal has been served.

Serving as masters-of-ceremony at the Junior-Senior Banquet were John Jones and John Reiser. "Bonsoir" was the theme selected, and from which the decorations were derived.

Light and dark green strips of crepe paper, the colors which were chosen as Senior Class colors, were placed down the center of the tables; the chosen Senior Class flower, the red rose, provided the centerpiece for the head table. Nut cups were small carts with umbrellas.

Carrying the theme further, the programs were written in French. Randy Burkholder sang the prayer; Mike Daniels played a trombone solo; Judy VanWinkle played a violin solo; and a trio of Carolyn Brott, Marcia Johns and Gale Schuman provided the entertainment. Ellen Ann Baker accompanied the trio.

Turkey and dressing, mashed potatoes and gravy, spring salad, peas, vienna bread and desert were included on the menu. The delicious meal was served by the fathers of Junior Class members.

"I Love Paris," the theme of the Prom, was carried out by French backdrop scenes. A fountain in the center of the dance floor, surrounded by white provincial chairs, provided a place to sit and chat. A French cafe scene was the prop used for taking pictures of the couples.

Grass, lilac trees and a fountain bedecked the orchestra pit. Bridges decorated with crepe paper and flowers completed the French theme.

TEACHERS, PARENTS and members of the Junior and Senior Classes are preparing themselves for a turkey supper. The fathers of the juniors served the meal.

Many Unforgettable, Thrilling Memories.

LONG-AWAITED and colorful, the Prom evening. Many couples take a moment to relax and joke between numbers played by the Paul Kuxhausen Combo.

CARRYING OUT the theme, "I Love Paris," the juniors decorated the orchestra pit with flowers, fountains and blooming lilacs.

TWO COUPLES DECIDE to "sit this one out," and listen to the music while other couples enjoy dancing to it.

New Members Initiated by Honor Society.

Twenty senior girls and one boy, representing the top ten percent of their class, were tapped by present members and initiated into the National Honor Society Tuesday, May 23.

Ten juniors, representing the top five percent of their class were tapped as next year's members. These juniors include Carolyn Brott, Cathi Cross, Ed Overstreet, Jane Ballentine, Di Kosman, Ann Massie, Nola Jean Freouf, Anne Campbell, Marjorie Germany and Rusty Lovell.

Following the tapping, the meaning of the keystone was given. The candidates were then instructed in the four ideals of the society—character, leadership, scholarship, and service.

Senior Breakfast

Larry Nelson led the class in the invocation at the Senior Breakfast. Selection of the class gift was the main topic of the business meeting; entertainment was provided and the benediction was given by Ron Plaster.

Immediately following the breakfast, the seniors passed to the gym to prepare for further final exercises.

PICTURES at this time of the morning! Seniors are shown enjoying the Senior Breakfast. An annual affair, the breakfast precedes the evening of Commencement.

Senior Class Anticipates Final Moments.

DR. ARTHUR W. TAYLOR delivered the serman at Vesper Services. Seniors were deeply touched by his thoughtful address. A Cappella choir, seated in the background, provided musical entertainment for seniors, parents and friends.

Vespers services were held Sunday, May 28. The sermon was delivered by Dr. Arthur W. Taylor. A Cappella choir provided several special numbers.

Class Day took place on Monday, May 29, in the morning. Seniors, giving up their places to the juniors, highlighted the event.

Receiving their diplomas Wednesday, May 31, were 206 graduating seniors. Speaking on the theme, "Schools of Success," were John Ramsey, Valedictorian; Jane Miller, Salutatorian; Rebecca Holmgren, Lela Beaird, Dennis Krausnick, Linda Beaird, Ann Kosman, Sharon Huston and Sandra Stewart. Larry Nelson gave an explanation of the theme.

Judy Wimberly gave the invocation. Entertainment was provided by Barbara Jacox, who played an instrumental solo, "Andante and Allegro," and Linda Weisgerber, who sang "I'll Walk with God."

Diplomas were awarded by Dr. John P. Heinke. Principal Harold Reeves presented the various scholarships. Harley Shaver gave the benediction prior to the recessional.

NATIONAL HONOR Society member, Dennis Krausnick, speaks on "School of Books." Dennis was the recipient of several scholarships.

SENIOR CLASS President, Larry Nelson, gave an explanation of the Commencement theme. The auditorium was filled to near capacity to witness the graduation of the 1961 Class; the last to graduate from the old Scottsbluff High School building.
